Recall effort against McGowan dealt a setback

■ Four signatures invalid, so it's back to the drawing board for group seeking to remove McGowan from office

By Steve Marschke, Editor and Daryl Fisher, Features Editor

A local realtor and 21 others signed a notice of intent to recall Yolo County Supervisor Michael McGowan, but the notice was rejected Friday by the county elections department when it was found that four of the 22 signatures on it were invalid.

If 20 of the 22 signatures had been validated, the notice would have marked the beginning of a signature-gathering period in which the group tried to collect about 2,800 more signatures to place the recall on a future county ballot.

Linda Ford of the elections department said the problem was that four of the signers of the notice were not registered to vote in the district at the time Friday when the notice was submitted.

"There were two of these that said their registration was in the mail, but the law states that they must be registered at the time the notice is received," said Ford.

The recall was championed by Dick Goodson, who could not be reached immediately for comment.

"Supervisor McGowan is being recalled because he is not fulfilling the duties of his responsibility," Goodson was quoted in a statement his group released Friday. "He is inaccessible to the citizens of the district he was elected to represent; he has made no efforts to bring back the municipal court house, public defender, and district attorney's office, which were once located in West Sacramento, thus relegating all citizens of West Sacramento to travel to Woodland 20 to 30 miles away to access services."

Supervisor Mike McGowan

Goodson said that "it takes weeks to get ahold of Mike to make appointments or discuss business, since he closed his district office we are at his mercy."

Fellow recall promoter John Vinson was quoted as saying that "if Mr. McGowan doesn't have an office in West Sacramento, and we can't get ahold of him in Woodland, there is a major problem! We need a full time supervisor.

The recall notice also criticized McGowan for supporting a merger of health related programs involving drug abuse, prevention and treatment.

Reached for comment, McGowan said that the attempt to recall him was "very frustrating."

"I've tried to talk to these folks and figure out what they want," he said. "They're a group concerned with drug and alcohol problems and would like the county to give them substantial amounts of money to administer programs in those areas. They have no record of doing that kind of work that I'm aware of, but they seem truly concerned about these issues."

McGowan added that he disagreed with the issues raised in the recall attempt.

"I respect the process, but disagree with the stated complaints," he commented. "I think I've been a hard working county supervisor and I don't feel any issue they've raised should warrant a recall effort."

The supervisor said that when he first spoke to members of the group, he thought they had common ground.

"My first response to them was that they were enthusiastic and constructive advocates for much-needed drug and alcohol abuse programs. Now I'm not sure what they want, except hundreds of thousands of dollars from the county and to recall me."

McGowan serves Yolo County's District One, which covers most of West Sacramento (all except the "Bryte" neighborhood in the northwest) as well as Clarksburg.

Although the recall group's spokesperson could not be reached for comment, an elections department staff member said it was her impression that the group would try again to submit a valid recall notice. An election date for a recall would not be set until the recall petition process is complete. It could not be complete in time for a recall measure to be added to the June primary ballot.

High School Theater Review:

High school's 'A Few Good Men' delights local audience

By Daryl Fisher Features Editor

JAROD KIMERER (right, as Jonathan Kendrick) barks out orders to the men of Winward Company, Guantanamo Bay

PFC William Santiago slept in his bed, dreaming of the happy day when he would get his transfer orders. The reflected light of the yellow moon danced on the waters of Guantanamo Bay and silence pervaded the Marine barracks of Winward Company. Then a scream of "Help!" pierced the cold sea air.

Willie Santiago wasn't having a nightmare, he was living one. His screams were stifled. A rag was shoved down his throat. Duct tape was wrapped around his mouth. Then it happened. There was blood! Something had gone terribly wrong, and there was nothing Dawson and Downey could do about it. Santiago was drowning in his own blood.

Did Willie Santiago die because Dawson and Downey committed murder, or was there more to it than that? What was a "code red" and had someone ordered one to be performed on Santiago? The answer to those and other intriguing questions are the subject of this year's River City High School play, which is currently being staged at Yolo High School's Ezer K. Matthews Memorial Performing Arts Center.

Aaron Sorkin's "A Few Good Men", under the direction of long-time RCHS English teacher Roy Engoron, is packed with drama, humor, and disturbing questions about the abuse of power in the United States military. In Mr. Engoron's words, "Abuse of power seems as endemic in the human psyche as breathing and breeding and 'A Few Good Men' is a hard-hitting look at the military and its system of discipline and justice."

From beginning to end, the production demands much from its actors. The dialogue is crisp, extremely well-written and often requires a range of emotion not often seen in high school plays. Although the strength of the play is the manner in which the cast works together as an ensemble, a number of individual performances deserve special mention.

Tony Venditti and Sara Penrod are energetic and believable as Lt. J.g. Daniel Kaffee and Lt. Cmdr. Joanne Galloway. They are responsible for much of the witty and dramatic dialogue which cleverly moves the plot forward. They are hardly ever off stage and the comfort they display with their roles allows the audience to relax and carefully listen to the profound words they often utter.

Jacob Brown and John Goeden, as Dawson and Downey, steal every scene in which they appear. All eyes turn to them as the audience tries to understand why it is so important that they live by their code of unit, corps, god, and country.

Joseph Brown is excellent as the wise-cracking Lt. J.g. Sam Weinberg, and Scott Hampton often seems like a professional actor in his role as Lt. Jack Ross, a military lawyer interested in results, and not always justice. Jimmy Yanez also has his doctor role down pat.

Jose Vaca is powerful as Judge Julius Randolph, and that even applies to the way he whacks his gavel on his desk every time he brings the court to order.

Nicholas McGreevy is responsible for the single most dramatic moment in the play when he calmly places a revolver in his mouth and commits suicide.

Joseph Mejia, as Lt. Col. Nathan Jessup, does a great job of giving the "You can't handle the truth" speech made famous by Jack Nicholson in the movie version of "A Few Good Men". He waits for just the right moment to begin raising his voice, and you can hear a pin drop in the audience when he is finished.

Johnny Ortea is the perfect Santiago. When he speaks, you can see the concern he has for his health and safety written all over his face.

Sisvat Phouanglasy, Adam Lighthizer, Jason Hope, Tommy Manasero, and James Hampton also give fine performances, but it's Jarod Kimerer, as Jonathan Kendrick, who really makes the play believable. His character is the key to understanding how abuse of power

About Town:

Bernice Gwinn stays involved

By Daryl Fisher Features Editor

Bernice Gwinn was born at home in a little house on the road to Clarksburg and baptized at nearby St. Joseph's, which is still one of the most beautiful churches in this area. At the age of two her family moved closer to what is now West Sacramento and her father began farming a small tract of land near Jefferson Boulevard. "We raised alfalfa and beans," said Bernice, "and I can still remember going up to the levee on hot summer days to swim in the mud and sand after they would dredge the Sacramento river. It was a great place to grow up, and a wonderful time in my life."

BERNICE GWINN

In the 1920s, Bernice attended West Sacramento School, which had all of three rooms. For the seventh and eighth grades, she went to Washington School in Broderick, and then like most of the young people of her era, traveled daily by bus to Woodland to go to high school.

In 1941, a week before Pearl Harbor was bombed, she married Walter Nichols and began raising a family. Her son, Robert, lives in San Jose, and her daughter, Marilyn, died from cancer in 1985. She also lost her husband to a heart attack in 1967. "I've had my share of sad times," said Bernice, "but everyone else has, too. One of the best things about West Sacramento is that people still care about each other here, and they're there for you when you need them."

After spending 28 years working for West Sacramento's Washington Unified School District, most of it as the secretary for the superintendent, Bernice retired so she could spend more time with her second husband, Richard Gwinn.

Richard Gwinn served in the United States Marine Corps from 1943 to 1946 and saw service in China and the Pacific theater. He was also James Marshall High School's first athletic director and the football field is named in his honor. He was a very popular teacher and coach, but was forced to retire from his classroom duties in 1963 with what was then believed to be multiple sclerosis. However, doctors at the Palo Alto VA hospital discovered he was actually suffering from a brain tumor at the base of his skull. He spent 11 months in the hospital undergoing numerous surgeries to correct the problem. Unfortunately, he experienced permanent damage to his spinal cord and died from a lengthy bout of pneumonia in 1978 at the age of 53. "Richard was truly a remarkable man," said Bernice. "He never once complained about his condition. He had been a great athlete and it must have been very hard on him to lose almost all of his strength in his legs, and then later in his arms. But he never felt sorry for himself. He was a wonderful husband and I'm so thankful for the eight years we had together."

After Richard's death, Bernice turned her considerable energy to community activities and currently belongs to four local organizations. She's been a member of VFW Auxilliary #8762 since 1946 and has three times served at its president. She belongs to ICF (Italian Catholic Federation) and has been instrumental in raising funds for Our Lady of Grace School and cancer fighting programs at hospitals in the greater Sacramento area. Local restaurant founder dies in crash

Rogelio "Roger" Arias Rodriguez, the co-founder of West Sacramento's landmark "Emma's Taco House" on Sacramento Ave., died Sunday afternoon in the crash of an airplane he was piloting in Mendocino County.

Rodriguez, 68, died along with three others in the crash. Also killed were Charlot Marie Piacentine, 51, of West Sacramento and Richard and Mary Ann Limbaugh, 58 and 53, respectively, of Stockton.

A witness reported that Rodriguez's airplane took off from a small airstrip near the town of Albion in dense fog, then appeared to be attempting to return to the airport when it struck a hillside.

Rodriguez and his wife, Emma, started the Sacramento Ave. restaurant after moving here from Santa Barbara in 1950. After it became successful, they opened a second "Emma's" in downtown Sacramento.

Rodriguez retired two years ago and obtained his pilot's license. The restaurants are still family-run.

The restaurants are closed for a week because of the tragedy.

Funeral arrangements are pending. An investigation into the accident is continuing.

Some good advice from the RCHS driving teacher

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

My wife came up to me the other evening, shook her head slowly from side to side, sighed, and said, "I think you need to have a little talk with your daughter."

"What about this time?" I asked, figuring it probably had something to do with yelling at her to clean up the pigsty she often refers to as her room.

"It's her driving," said my wife with obvious concern.

"What about it?" I asked. "I thought she was improving. She hasn't been in a wreck for over a year now."

"I know," said my wife, "but every time I get in her car and go any place with her, my knuckles start turning white and I end up saying little prayers under my breath."

"It's that bad, huh."

"There must be something we can do to help make her a better driver?"

"I've told her everything I know about driving a car," I said. "She's 23 years old now. I can't think of anything to add." Then a little light went on in my head and I said, "Wait, I know what, I'll go over to the high school and talk to Mr. Rackley. He's been teaching kids how to drive for more than 30 years. I bet he can help us out."

Bob Rackley, one of River City High School's most popular teachers, has been helping kids learn how to properly drive a motor vehicle since 1964, and he quickly assured me that my daughter wasn't the only young person who picks up bad driving habits and then has a real hard time correcting them. "Young people often don't concentrate when they're behind the wheel of a car," explained Bob. "They're listening to their music, or thinking about their boyfriend or girlfriend, or talking to someone in the back seat, or putting on their makeup, or eating a hamburger and fries, and the list goes on and on. They're not always aware of all the dangers surrounding them."

"That's my daughter, alright," I said.

"And the older a person gets, the harder it is for them to change their driving habits. So my advice would be to go back to square one."

"Which is?"

"I always tell the kids to relax, not be scared, and remember that they are the brains of the car. Then I teach them not to look at the steering wheel, but to always focus their eyes way up the road. It's also important that they learn not to oversteer, to constantly use their mirrors, to brake early, try to predict what the other guy is going to do, don't drive too fast, and never tailgate."

"Those last two seem to be my daughter's main problem, along with not concentrating on what she's doing."

"I remember once," said Bob, "a student of mine was driving along on Jefferson Boulevard doing a pretty good job when one of those big sugar beet trucks came up too close behind us, and when my student driver slammed on the brakes because he thought he was getting too close to the shoulder, that truck almost smashed right into the back of us. If he would have hit us, our gas tank would have probably exploded, and me and three students would have been dead because of tailgating. So, if there's two things that kids just have to learn, it's to slow down and don't tailgate."

Bob also recalled another time when he was having one of his students drive across the very narrow bridge just outside of Bryte which people used to have to cross to get to the old city dump when he made the mistake of mentioning to the young driver that she was so close to the concrete railing that he could stick out his hand and file his nails. "She began to laugh," said Bob, "and almost lost control of the car just as another car began passing us in the other direction. That taught me that everyone needs to take driving a car very, very seriously, even the passengers."

Later that night when I told my wife all the good advice Mr. Rackley had given me and that I was going to write it down in a column so I could stick it under my daughter's nose, my wife said, "I suppose there's no guaranteed way of making sure our kids are driving as carefully as they can. We can't drive the cars for them."

"Well," I said, "if all else fails, I guess we could always get what Mr. Rackley has in his cars."

"What's that?"

"Dual brake control."

RC tennis: after 40 league wins in a row, finally a loss

From River City High School

As the saying goes, "All good things must come to an end." So it was with the amazing regular season winning streak compiled over the past two years by the River City High School Tennis Team. After forty victories in a row, the Raiders fell to the visiting Livingston Wolves of the Trans Valley League last Tuesday, 5 to 4. The Raiders hadn't dropped a non-playoff match since March of 1996 and hadn't suffered a home loss since April, 1995.

RC Coach Dave Brooks offered the following assessment of the rare defeat, "As I told the team after the match, it had to happen sometime. We weren't going to win every match, forever. They put forth a good effort and we lost to a team that played better on that particular day. We beat them down there by the same score last year -- so much for the home court advantage! It wasn't a league match and it also showed us that we need to keep working hard if we want to win the G.E.L. again. We never set out to win forty in a row, but it was a terrific feat and a fun ride."

In the singles matches against Livingston, the Raiders' Douangchanh Lattasima and Aenoy Xayasone defeated the Wolves' top two girls in straight sets but teammates Sarom Phoung (1-6, 6-4, 4-6 at #1) and Jeff Wright (6-3, 2-6, 3-6 at #2) both lost marathon contests. In the doubles, Raider wins came from Phoungeun Souvannaphoungeun and Aaron Potnick at #1 boys, 10-9 with a 7 to 4 tiebreak, and Sue Yang and Sokpin Phoung at #2 girls, 10-1. Phoung, only a freshman, was playing in her first varsity match.

The Raiders returned to their winning ways later in the week with road wins against Natomas of the Capital Valley Conference, 7 to 0, and Calaveras of the Mother Lode League, 4 to 1. Brooks adjusted his lineup in accordance with the format used in the host teams' leagues but the neither opponent could prevent the Raiders from improving to 6 wins and 1 loss in the young 1998 season.

Highlights from Natomas included the continued steady play of Lattasima (6-0, 6-1 at #1) and Xayasone (6-0, 6-0 at #2) in girls singles, the comeback by Wright at #2 boys singles (4-6, 6-1, 6-3), and easy wins by Loan Nguyen and Khonesavanh Lattasima in girls doubles and Khampheng Insixiengmay and Sue Yang in mixed. Up in San Andreas against Calaveras, the Raiders were led by Wright and Xayasone who paired for an impressive 10-2 win in mixed doubles, and the Potnick/Souvannaphoungeun boys doubles team who earned a 10-6 win.

In the week ahead, the Raiders begin their quest for a third consecutive Golden Empire League championship with tomorrow's league opener at home against Golden Sierra at 3 p.m. They will then travel to Highlands for a nonleague match against the Scots on Friday before resuming GEL play next Tuesday at Marysville.

Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

The NCAA tournament is down to the sweet 16 with four teams from the Pac-10 still alive and well. The defending NCAA champion Arizona Wildcats had a cake walk in the West Regional in Sacramento, winning both their games by an average of 32 points.

After watching the Wildcats tear into two weaker teams, they are the team to beat. Arizona has the coach, size, speed, depth on the bench and the experience to win the NCAA title again. The team that beats them will have to play a perfect game.

The Stanford Cardinal (26-4) advanced for the second consecutive season to the sweet 16, but the Washington Huskies (18-9) and the UCLA Bruins (22-8) had to work hard in their regions. Stanford has a good chance of sneaking in the back door in the Midwest Regional in St. Louis, especially after eighth-seeded Rhode Island stunned the No. 1 seeded Kansas 80-75. If Stanford can get by Purdue (26-7) on Friday, March 20 (4:55 p.m. Ch. 13) they should be able to beat the winner of the Rhode Island/Valparaiso game and earn a trip to San Antonio on March 28-30 for the NCAA final four.

The Huskies will travel to Greensboro, N.C., to play Connecticut on Thursday, March 21, while the champs, Arizona, entertain Maryland at Disneyland on Thursday night.

Here's my three top picks for the sweet 16:

Stanford will upset Purdue in overtime, while Kentucky will romp over UCLA by 10 and the defending champion will beat Maryland by 12 points.

Both the Giants and A's pitching staffs have been getting mugged in their early spring training games in Arizona. The Giants are still searching for their fourth and fifth starter for their rotation. Julian Tavarez flunked his test this spring and will be sent back to the bullpen where he belongs.

Osvaldo Fernandez and Danny Darwin have the inside track for the two spots in the starting rotation. The A's are giving 36-year old ex-Giant MVP Kevin Mitchell a tryout. Mitchell ate himself out of baseball last season, when his weight ballooned up to 280 pounds. He looks good in spring training (240 pounds!) camp. If he hits like the Mitchell of old, he could be the team's designated hitter.

Boxing returns to the Radisson Hotel on Monday, March 30, as West Sacramento's undefeated junior featherweight Willie Jorrin (19-0) headlines a five bout card.

Tickets are priced at $20, $30 and $40. If you need tickets or posters, call me at 372-7332.

See ya next week!

Kings' Korner

By Richard Novoa

The Kings (26-40) are still on the road and playing themselves out of the playoff picture.

The Kings trail the Houston Rockets (33-31) and Minnesota Timberwolves (33-31) by eight games with 16 games remaining. the Kings have the eighth worst record in the NBA.

Looks like the Kings will earn their 11th lottery pick since moving to Sacramento.

In a positive note, Mitch Richmond, who is averaging 23 points this season, needs to average 21 points in the next 16 games to become the fourth player in NBA history to average 21 or more points in each of his first 10 years! You have to be a great player to accomplish that!

He would join Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Oscar Robertson and some guy named Jordan.

The Kings return home on Thursday, March 19, to play the Cleveland Cavs and then on Sunday, March 22, at 2 p.m., Shaquille O'Neal and the Los Angeles Lakers invade the Arco.

Tickets are still available for both games. Call the Arco Arena box office (928-6900) and all BASS ticket centers at 923-BASS.

See ya at the Arco!

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

Priorities

Mayor Wes Beers had it right in his weekend quote in the Sacramento Bee when he said his constituents in West Sacramento wanted their local government to give them more retail stores, better services and a community they can take greater pride in.

This is worth remembering, because it is not always the direction on which West Sacramento spends the most energy. Often, we are drawn to looking for "quick fixes" such as glorious new commercial developments (which are supposed to have a huge spinoff value on the rest of the city), when the public would be happy with consistent progress on the fronts mentioned by Beers.

First and foremost, the public wants the security that comes with adquate police and fire protection and with the suppression of the criminal element. They also want good roads, water, sewer and garbage service.

The public would like to see West Capitol Ave. and the business district "cleaned up."

Shopping opportunities (or the lack thereof) are frequently bemoaned in West Sacramento. Local supermarkets, though adequate, do not offer merchandise that compares with supermarkets in neighboring communities. West Sacramento has few opportunities for clothes shopping, entertainment (cinemas and such), or fine dining, as well, and the public would like all these things to change.

The city is making slow progress on these fronts. None of these problems can be cured with a snap of the fingers.

The thing to remember, though, is that we too often get caught up in chasing "golden egg" development plans in one part of the city or the other, and we invest so much in those (both in energy and in public money) that they never pay off to the community as advertised.

City policy needs to serve the residents first, always.

A fourth thing the city needs, in addition to the three mentioned by Beers, is one traditionally outside the control of city government. That is a high quality school district. True, the quality of education at Washington Unified School District is often underrated, and examples of outstanding personnel and programs in the district are often overlooked, but any city with high aspirations needs a school system good enough that it becomes a "draw" to ambitious and educated new residents -- not a district whose performance needs to be explained.

This, too, is a difficult goal for West Sacramento.

But when the city services, commercial balance and school system all reach peak levels, this city will have arrived.

Losing the trees. . .

To fight to save the oaks so proud and mighty!

Was fought, by the people and as very gallant!

But Alas! The city council, again, proved to be untrue and very flighty!

And the poor trees, all but three, will very soon get the mallet!!

Thanks for burn donations

The West Sacramento Firefighters Association would like to thank the following businesses for their donation and support for the eighth annual Central California Firefighters Burn Brigade.

Firefighters throughout the Sacramento area joined together to help raise money for the firefighters Pacific Burn Institute which is located in Sacramento. This year the total raised was over $95,000.00. All the money raised goes to help burn survivors in their recovery.

Again, thank you!

Go see the play!

Tonight I had the privilege of attending the opening night performance of the River City High School Drama Department's presentation of A Few Good Men. It is obvious from the performance that Mr. Roy Engoron is a truly gifted drama teacher and drama production director based on the marvelous achievement put on by the entire student cast and supporting stage, set, lighting and usher crew. Everyone is to be commended for a superlative job. I sincerely encourage all members of the West Sacramento community to go see one of the performances on March 19, 20 or 21 at the Ezer K. Mathews Memorial Performing Arts Center. I can assure you that you will not be disappointed in this outstanding entertainment.

County Supervisors need to bring intentions behind Measure J out of the closet.

Measure J will eliminate your right to vote for the currently elected Auditor/Controller and the County Tax Collector for Yolo County. It will also eliminate Sheriff Department and school districts' financial analysts positions. John Laugenour, who is running for Sheriff, quoted from a March 5 newspaper article, stating that there would be no representation or protection of department funds or jobs. And he stated that defeating this measure was especially important for the Sheriff's Department.

Historically, the League of Women Voters made this a "cause," saying it was important to have unbiased, accountable to the people, elected positions (not people owing an elected official a favor). Checks and balances of positions were healthy for the voters and government system. Less corruptible, less manipulation -- more accountability. Who knows if they will even have time to review this initiative the Supervisors are ramroding through for a power grab.

Ballot Statement from the Supervisors says the financial system is poor, but ridding the county of a "voted" position without improving the system takes care of nothing. It only manages to give elected supervisors more power with less oversight of public funds.

The Board of Supervisors say they want to form a Department of Finance. They fail to tell you about getting rid of two elected positions and several staff positions which protect the balance of power. Why are they out to deceive the voters if the measure is such a good idea? Have the school boards had a chance to review this Measure and debate the idea of having a consultant in charge of their investments? NO.

They say it will save $250,000 but fail to prove the numbers by their own documents. No improvements in the processes or system to achieve future savings which they are quoted saying "IT" is in need of overhauling.

There is no documentation of how much consultants will charge the county and how their charges will be hidden, in and out of financial transactions. Too many loose ends and hidden power grabbing by elected officials are part of the supervisors proposed system. If they were interested in guarding the public's money, they would implement better procedures and more oversight.

There has been no mention of the conversation that took place at the Yolo County Taxpayers Association meeting about Measure J. The Yolo County staff person giving a presentation for Measure J mentioned how she talked to three of the Yolo County supervisors and convinced them to propose the initiative.

The public will not have time to review all that information or the people and motives involved in these changes. And, if a Financial Director is appointed he/she will do what officials tell the appointed Director to do -- isn't that a reassuring thought?

Stationary Union 39 representatives are worried that jobs will go away and people will get "moved around until they go away."

If you want to get more involved in the solution to keep accountability in our government system on March 25, at 7 p.m., there is a meeting at the Woodland Library in the Leek room. Also, a fundraising event for "No on Measure J, Keep Your Right to Vote" will take place on April 28 at the Eagles Hall, SR16, Woodland for a donation of $5. Call Ruth Wechsler at (530) 662-2115, if you want to get more information about the citizens' group against Measure J.

Measure J gives politicians more power and less accountability. No, NO, NO WAY on Measure J.

Helping in the fight against muscular dystrophy

Helping Jerry's Kids --

As part of an annual fund raising program in the fight against muscular dystrophy, these individuals and businesses have joined with Helen Merkley and the News-Ledger to donate to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The organization, featuring actor-comedian Jerry Lewis and "Jerry's Kids," aims to put an end to this disease.

Thank you to these West Sacramento community members for their support.

You stay young as long as you can learn, acquire new habits and suffer contradiction.
—Ebner-Eschenbach

A good Guernsey cow will produce more than one thousand gallons of whole milk and cream a year. This is enough to feed a family of two adults and three children, with ample skimmed milk left over to feed a veal calf, a pig, and a flock of chickens. An addtional bonus is more than fourteen tons of manure for the spreading.

The Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) could mean

if you qualify!

The EITC is based on your earned income and the number of children you have living with you. If you don't have a child, you may still qualify for a limited EITC.

To claim the EITC on your 1997 tax return, you need income of less than:

- $29,290–and two or more qualifying children,
- $25,760–and one qualifying child, or
- $9,770–and no qualifying children.

Remember: you, your spouse and your children must have Social Security numbers to get the EITC.

If you expect to qualify for the EITC in 1998, ask your employer about advance EITC payments. You could get part of the credit with your pay now, instead of waiting until after you file your 1998 tax return.

Ask the IRS or your tax professional about the EITC. You can call 1-800-829-3676 to get free IRS Publication 596, Earned Income Credit, or download IRS forms and publications from the Internet at www.irs.ustreas.gov.

Beware! False EITC claims could prohibit you from getting the credit for up to 10 years.

Ailysha Taylor joins Army

Ailysha S. Taylor has joined the United States Army under the Delayed Entry Program at the U.S. Army Recruiting Station, Sacramento. She is the daughter of Cary and Fred Taylor of West Sacramento.

The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay entering active duty for up to one year.

The enlistment gives the new soldier the option to learn a new skill, travel and become eligible to receive as much as $40,000 toward a college education. After completion of basic training, soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career specialty.

Taylor, a student at River City High School, will report to Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C., for basic training on July 7, 1998.

Police Log

March 14, 3:45 p.m.

Terrorist threats were reported to have been made by a 36-year old West Sacramento man, who admitted making the phone call in question but couldn't remember what he said because he was drunk at the time. The victim said the suspect threatened bodily injury and said, "I'm going to bleed you, you better look over your shoulder." The suspect was arrested.

March

Two officers responded to a report that a dog had been shot and that a disturbance was escalating between the dog's owner and the person who shot it. The dog, which had a wound to the chest, entered a vehicle under its own power for a trip to the animal hospital.

March 15, 3:30 a.m.

An officer stopped a car travelling near Elm and Citrus for displaying a white light to the rear. A 19-year old man in the car said it belonged to a friend, but when the officer checked the vehicle identification number, the report came back that the car had been reported stolen in Sacramento. The driver was arrested.

March 15, 6:40 a.m.

An Enterprise Blvd. business reported suspects had pried open a door and burglarized the business, stealing two computers.

March 15, 6:45 a.m.

A woman reported that her ex-boyfriend had rammed her vehicle with his van on March 11.

March 16, 4:30 p.m.

An officer was called to assist a code enforcement officer with a vehicle on Jefferson Blvd. which had the vehicle identification number removed. A fellow officer determined the ID number and learned the vehicle was stolen March 5 in Sacramento. The 37-year old West Sacramento man in possession of the car was arrested.

March 16, 9:35 p.m.

Officers were dispatched after the report that a man had suffered a head injury in a disturbance at the Broderick Boat Ramp. Two West Sacramento men, 19 and 28, were arrested for being among the three suspects who assaulted the victim with a knfe and a club.

March 16, 2:05 a.m.

A Circle St. woman said the woman she had a live-in relationship with had thrown an object at her in anger, injuring her knee. The suspect was arrested.

in the military can become a reality, and when he is on stage, he leaves no doubt where he is coming from and why. His accent is right on, as is his miliary bearing, and the play rings true due in large part to his fine effort.

"A Few Good Men" will be performed three more times, March 19th, 20th, and 21st. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m. and general admission is $6. Tickets for students and senior citizens are $5. On Friday, March 20th, the Arts Boosters Club (ABC) will hold their Gala, featuring a post-performance party with all members of the cast.

The play's hard-working crew includes: Philip Sequira, Technical Director; Dennis Newhall, Master Sound; Leticia Valenzuela, Stage Manager; Jamelee Roberts, Assistant Stage Manager; Jose Peralta, Michael Valenti, Sam Brinkhuis, Nick McGreevy, Jose Vaca, John Goeden, Halley Moore, Sara Penrod, Tony Venditti, Scott Hampton, James Hampton, Jimmy Yanez, Jacob Brown, Susan Guerrero, Sarah Hanson, Sarah Ellis, Teresa Valdivia, Jarod Kimerer, Johnny Ortega, Adam Lighthizer, Anthony Denney, Stage Crew; Chris Pease, Jacob Carriker, Angela Lopez, James Owens, Light and Sound; Kendra Drischler, Scott Hampton, John Goeden, Jennifer Obara, Tommy Manesaro, Props; Shobna Kumar, Leesa Aragon, Make-Up; Jennifer Gabourie, Leesa Aragon, Susan Guerrero, Costumes; Rishi Sharma, Angela Kasting, Samantha Moore, Maria Pulido, Publicity; Irene Hernandez, Crystal Palmer, House and Tickets; Sarah Ellis, Leah Riggs, Amber McIntyre, Sarah Hanson, Vincent Marquez, Morton Geivett, Candice Mitchell, Programs; and Joe Schumacher, the guard tower.

NOTE: RCHS student Rishi Sharma helped with the writing of this review and his assistance was much appreciated.

also a member of CSEA #5028 and very active in the Golden Years Club, a West Sacramento seniors group which currently has 118 members.

"So many of us have had common experiences," explained Bernice. "Many of us grew up on local farms and we remember what West Sacramento was like in the early years. So much has changed, yet a lot of what makes this area so special still remains. The people are still hard working, concerned about their neighbors, and willing to help out when asked."

Bernice credits much of her positive attitude to her Catholicism. "The church has always been there when I needed it. I'm also very lucky to have six grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, and many wonderful friends. I play bridge two times a month, go bowling on Fridays, and usually take a trip up to Reno once a month. My health is still pretty good and I try to remain as active as I can."

When told that Richard Gwinn had been a favorite teacher in high school, Bernice smiled and said, "I'm always hearing that. He was a special guy, all right. And if we could all live our lives with the courage, kindness and dignity he had, this would sure be a better world."

Arts boosters host special reception for cast of school drama

The community is invited to attend a reception for the cast and crew of the River City High School production of A Few Good Men at Yolo High School, 920 Westacre Road, which will be held after the performance this Friday, March 20.

Sponsored by Arts Booster Club, this traditional Gala is an opportunity for the community to support the drama program of River City, a program which provides opportunities to many students to learn stagecraft and to obtain experience in performance. Funds raised by the Theater Party and the efforts of ABC have secured professional lighting and sound for the Yolo High School auditorium, thus creating the Ezer Mathews Performing Arts Center for the students at River City, Golden State and Yolo High.

The play is directed by Roy S. Engoron in cooperation with Thespian Troupe No. 3129. All seats are $7. Those who cannot attend but wish to support the program can send their contributions to ABC, Box 2003, West Sacramento. Carolyn Venditti is president of ABC, which will provide refreshments for the reception.

Post 8762 located at 905 Drever Street in West Sacramento. The public is invited to come and acquaint itself with the community. A fun family day with door prizes every half hour. For more information please call Beverly Carson at 725-5865, or Floy Gleason at 371-5865.

Southport Parent Group

Please come out to help start the new Southport Elementary School Parent Group with Mrs. Smith, principal, tonight between 7 and 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room at Westmore Oaks Elementary School. Call Mrs. Smith at 375-7604, ext. 7901, for more information.

Kiwanis Speaker

Dewey Hopper, Channel 13 weatherman, will be speaking on March 24 at 12 p.m. at the Moose Lodge, 3432 Jefferson Blvd. in West Sacramento. Call John Sweeny for more information at 371-6819.

Hepatitis Shots

California law, after July 1, 1999, requires schoolchildren entering 7th grade to have three Hepatitis B shots. A second MMR shot and a Td booster may also be requred, and the school will ask to see your child's proof of immunization. Because the Hepatitis shots must be spaced several months apart, it is important to plan early. For information, contact your physician, school nurse, or the county health department.

R.C. Drama

River City High School's drama department presents "A Few Good Men," at 8 p.m. on March 19, 20 (arts booster gala night; all seats $7) and 21. Tickets for all performances except March 20 will be $6 general admission and $5 students/senior citizens. Performances will be at Yolo High School, West Sacramento.

CPR Saturday

The Yolo County Red Cross annual CPR Saturday this year will aim to bring CPR skills to Spanish-speakers, with six classes held in Spanish and two in English. Classes begin at 8 a.m. at Yuba College's Woodland campus, 41605 E. Gibson Rd., and are free. For information, call 662-4669. The Red Cross is also offering "CPR for babysitters," with classes for youths 11-15 years old held at the County Fair Mall in Woodland on March 28, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Call 662-4669.

Hazardous Waste

County residents may bring household hazardous waste such as poisons, solvents, cleaners, gasoline, paints, used motor oil and aerosol sprays to the county landfill near Davis from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on March 21. 125 pounds or 15 gallons maximum per person; businesses should call 1-800-207-8222 for information on separate programs. For further information, call 372-0850.

Senior Spin

"Senior Spin," the West Sacramento Senior Center's takeoff on the "Wheel of Fortune" TV game show, begins its fourth year on Sonic Cable TV tonight. This may well be the world's record for the longest-running TV production by a senior citizen center. The show airs every Wednesday night at 7 p.m. on Channel 21. Tonight's contestants are Betty Gabourie, Barbara Porter, and Bonnie Poe. Gladys Neighbors is game show host, Dee Bowen is "Vana Banana," Danny Parisi is stage technician, and Stella Morey is floor director. The West Sacramento Canned Foods Grocery Outlet donated the first-prize $20 gift certificate.

Holy Cross Open House

Please join Holy Cross School for its annual Open House and Ecology Fair on Tuesday, March 31, at 6:30 p.m., to be held at the school. Environmental exhibits will be presented by students and their families. The Open House/Ecology Fair is open to all, as this is the perfect opportunity to visit Holy Cross School and meet the faculty.

Food Distribution

Food products will be distributed to low-income, eligible West Sacramento residents on March 28 between 8 and 10 a.m. at the County Building located at 500 Jefferson, and between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. at Sam Combs Activity Center on Stone Blvd. Items will include cereal, canned beef, macaroni, and corn. Participants are asked to bring a bag to carry food home. For more information, please call the Yolo County Coalition Against Hunger at 758-6821.

Music Lessons

Music lessons begin March 24 for anyone who desires to play the drums, bass guitar, or guitar. Students must be at least ten years old and they must have an instrument to practice on. The instructor has experience in teaching from the ages ten to 76. The classes are one-on-one and they meet once per week at Joy Christian Ministries, 828 Merkley Avenue, West Sacramento. For more information or to register, call 375-0066 and leave a message.

Ayala Campaign

Jorge Ayala, principal of the Cache Creek Continuation School in Woodland, will kick-off his campaign for Yolo County Superintendent of Schools tomorrow, March 19, between 5 and 7 p.m. at Cracchiolo's Banquet Hall, 1320 Main Street in Woodland. The reception will be hosted by Friends of Jorge Ayala. The public is invited. Elizabeth Zemmels, current holder of the non-partisan office of Yolo County Superintendent of Schools, has not filed for a new term. The election is June 2. For additional information, call 666-4218.

Oral histories and geneology are among society's topics

The Friends of the Yolo County Archives are presenting three workshops on preserving family history. The workshops will be held at the Blanchard Room, Davis Branch Library, 315 E. 14th Street in Davis. Tickets will be available at the door; each workshop costs $15. Proceeds benefit the Yolo County Archives. For information, call Virginia Isaacs at 753-5392 or Lois Nash at 753-5261. The following workshops will be available:

Oral History Techniques and Uses, Saturday, March 21 at 10 a.m. Shipley Walters, local historian, will introduce you to the techniques and uses of oral history: how to interview people and what questions to ask; how to record and preserve your interviews; and how to make use of the information gained from your interviews.

Information at the Sacramento City Archives, Saturday, March 28, at 10 a.m. Pat Johnson, archivist, will discuss the holdings of the Sacramento Archives and Museum Collection Center, located at 551 Sequoia Pacific Boulevard in Sacramento.

Genealogical Materials in the UC Davis Library, Saturday, April 4, at 10 a.m. Hans J. Rocke, UC Davis reference librarian, will describe the information available in the Shields Library on the campus of the University of California, Davis, including maps, newspapers and the Records of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

First place awards for local camellias

Camellia blossoms from the West Sacramento yard of life-long resident Louise Vessell won a pair of the first place ribbons awarded at the Sacramento Camellia Show earlier this month at the Sacramento Convention Center.

Vessell, 86, credits her yard for the blossoms' beauty.

"I'm delighted that I've won these two ribbons," she said. "I do nothing to my camellias, but attribute the good soil of Broderick to their good health. Where I live used to be Japanese farmland, so I think the soil is rich with whatever it takes to grow camellias."

Ireland in West Sac

Learn about Ireland and being Irish this month at the Arthur F. Turner Branch Library. Book subjects range from travel to Ireland and tracing your Irish roots to Irish crochet and Irish setters. There are books about the Irish potato famine as well as cookbooks devoted to potato recipes. Books about St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, Irish folk tales, and Irish symbols such as shamrocks are also available.

Dozens of new audio books are now available at the Turner Library. The East Yolo Friends of the Library purchased a variety of the audio books recently and members of the community have donated many more titles. The collection includes popular fiction authors such as Lilian Jackson Braun ("The Cat Who..." series) and John Grisham; non-fiction selections by Charles Kuralt and Garrison Keillor; and children's stories like "Charlotte's Web" and "Ramona."

Special bulletin: Magazine donations have slowed to a trickle and the selection on the Friends sale table is getting sparce. If you're doing spring cleaning and find magazines you no longer want, please donate them to the Arthur F. Turner Branch Library at 1212 Merkley Avenue.
